Introduction

Basic preventative dental/oral services encompass routine measures aimed at maintaining optimal oral health. These include regular dental check-ups, cleanings, fluoride treatments, and promoting good oral hygiene practices like daily brushing and flossing. These actions help prevent oral issues such as tooth decay, gum disease and infections. Oral health may play a role in some high-risk health conditions such as cardiovascular disease, chronic obstructive pulmonary disease, diabetes, oral cancer and pregnancy. This policy includes additional preventive coverage for certain high-risk conditions that have been recognized by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC).

Note: The Introduction section is for your general knowledge and is not to be taken as policy coverage criteria. The rest of the policy uses specific words and concepts familiar to medical professionals. It is intended for providers. A provider can be a person, such as a doctor, nurse, psychologist, or dentist. A provider also can be a place where medical care is given, like a hospital, clinic, or lab. This policy informs them about when a service may be covered.

Related Information

Oral conditions recognized by the CDC may change over time. Premera makes every attempt to update and align benefit coverage, however the CDC does not consider all aspects of insurance coverage or claims administration.

Benefit Application

Members need to refer to their plan's benefit booklet for a comprehensive discussion of coverage and payment information.

Coverage Review

Description

The dental plan includes additional preventive coverage for certain high-risk conditions that have been recognized by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC).

Background

Like other areas of the body, your mouth teems with bacteria — mostly harmless. But your mouth is the entry point to your digestive and respiratory tracts, and some of these bacteria can cause disease.

Normally the body's natural defenses and good oral health care, such as daily brushing and flossing, keep bacteria under control. However, without proper oral hygiene, bacteria can reach levels that might lead to oral infections, such as tooth decay and gum disease. Studies suggest that oral bacteria and the inflammation associated with a severe form of gum disease (periodontitis) might play a role in some diseases.

A professional dental prophylaxis (cleaning) can get rid of any plaque you may have missed while brushing and flossing. Following a dental cleaning, a dentist may apply a fluoride treatment to help fight off cavities. Fluoride is a naturally occurring mineral. It can help strengthen the enamel of teeth and make them more resilient to bacteria and acid.
